Enlightening Upcoming Entrepreneurs

Ethel is a student for, life for she continues to foster a relationship with her mentors, including but not limited to Ms. Cleo Brager, Mrs. Karen Herman, Mr. Michael Dayton, and Mr. Patrick Callaway, to name a few. She would encourage budding entrepreneurs to remain in the presence of their mentors throughout their entrepreneurial journey. Entrepreneurs should never graduate from learning, taking appropriate risks to grow, and building a faith-based community to help them along the way.

Ethel advises young entrepreneurs to develop a fearless mindset in their quest to achieve success. Sometimes, if you don't risk anything, you risk even more, for that is why some people never find the courage or strength to take a leap of faith or have been co-dependent on a paycheck and benefits. She has noticed that since the pandemic that more people are leaving their stable jobs and looking for a greater meaning in life by transitioning into self-employment. Life is short, and if you wake up dreading going to work, then that is the first sign that you are not growing, just going. 📖
